Summary: This webinar arranged by the Department of Psychology, Surendranath College in coordination with I.Q.A.C. As its name implies, this webinar helps to build up an essential quality, that is, 'Unconditional Listening'. Participants are made aware to inculcate a significant soft skill, so that their mere listening may become active and unbiased. A listening which is influenced by any prior assumption or conditional reasoning may colour our decoding system or information processing system and finally may land up in a biased inference. We, teachers of the department, are glad to convey this essential message to our students as well as participants of the webinar.
