Number of Participants : 325

Summary: The lecture was attended by 325 participants including undergraduates, postgraduates and faculty members of various colleges. The first speaker Dr. Indranil Mukhopadhyay gave an in depth understanding of the term “migrants” – its definition, types and reasons for migration. The second speaker Kunal Kumar Kundu spoke on the urban to rural reverse migration and the inability of the policies to help the migrants during the lockdown. Finally both the speakers gave some policy recommendations. This was followed by a very interactive question and hour session.

The vote of thanks was given by Dr. Nilansu Das, Joint Convenor of the Seminar Committee, Surendranath College. All the participants submitted the feedback forms and received the participation certificate in due time.

The webinar lecture on the topic of curriculum in context to the then present situation of the country had been successful since it gave a lucid explanation to the life and livelihood of the migrants and the lessons learnt in the Pandemic.
